Practical AI for Civil Contractors: Less Admin, Better Information, No Code Required

In this free, members-only webinar, Graham Garvin, Director of Product at Assignar, shows how civil businesses are using AI tools they already have to pull together plant, scheduling and finance information into one live view, simply by typing or talking in plain English. No coding, no IT department, no sales pitch.

You'll see live demos built for civil contractors, including how to automate repetitive admin so it runs on its own, and practical advice on staying safe as AI makes scams like payment redirection easier to pull off.
